Compulsory School Attendance
Information for parents

Compulsory School Attendance

Compliance with compulsory requirements?

The compulsory school attendance legislation, the Education Act 1990, ensures that parents or guardians are required to ensure their children attend school on a daily basis. This includes

- Attend the compulsory school year
- Be in attendance on time

Parental involvement

Parents are encouraged to support their children's education by

- Attending school events
- Encouraging their children's learning

Spiritual and moral development

Schools are required to promote the spiritual and moral development of students. This includes

- Providing opportunities for students to
- Encourage students to participate in

Social and sporting activities

Students are encouraged to participate in a variety of activities, including

- Sports
- Music

Reading and writing

Students are expected to

- Read and write
- Complete assignments

Mental health

Schools are required to

- Provide mental health support
- Encourage students to seek help

Cyber safety

Students are encouraged to

- Use the internet safely
- Report inappropriate behavior

Lao

WWW.SCHOOLS.NSW.EDU.AU
The image appears to be a document in Lao language. The text is related to academic performance and attendance plans, as indicated by the presence of terms such as "Attendance Improvement Plan" and "Study Support Programs." The content seems to be discussing strategies for improving student attendance and engagement, possibly for a specific academic year or program.